PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

CONSIDERING the reception which has been accorded to the new issue of "Converts to Rome," and bearing in mind the comments of the Press, I think it necessary to make a few observations on points which will interest my readers.

As several reviewers, notably those connected with Dissenting Organs, have been under the impression that I have been honoured by the assistance of the Premier in the compilation of my work, it will be as well to state that the following letter, written by Mr. Gladstone to the late Editor of the Whitehall Review, has been the sole cause why the right honourable gentleman's name appears in my preface :

"Hawarden, Oct. 11, 1878.

"DEAR SIR,

"I thank you for sending me the Whitehall Review with the various lists of secessions to the Roman Church. I am glad they have been collected, and I am further glad to hear they are to be published in the form of a pamphlet. For good, according to some, or for evil, according to others, they form as a group an event of much interest and significance.

"It would very greatly add to the value of the coming pamphlet, if an approximate statement of dates could be made part of it. To give the year in each case would probably be very difficult; but would it be difficult to give decades? Say from 1820 or 1830. Even to divide yet more largely would still be useful ; as thus :

1. Before 1840.
2. 1840—1860.
3. Since 1860.

“ You will, I am sure, excuse this suggestion, and again accept my thanks.

“ I remain,

“ Yours very faithfully,

“ W. E. GLADSTONE.”

I regret to find that the following names inadvertently appeared in the lists :

Rev. S. W. Wayte, B.D., late President of Trinity College, Oxford.

General Brine, R.E.

D. C. Lathbury, Esq., Brasenose Coll., Oxon.

J. O. Halliwell-Phillips, Esq.

The late Lucius Kelly, Esq., Barrister.

These gentlemen have not joined the Catholic Church, and my apologies are due to them for being the unwilling medium of propagating that which was not correct.

The name of Lady Chichester should not have been given, as I am informed by a near relative of her ladyship that the family never deserted the “ Old Faith.”

A doubt which I confess to having at first entertained as to the propriety of giving publicity to a spiritual change, of which the world took little note, has long since proved, I am glad to say, to be without foundation. Not one letter of an objecting nature has yet reached me ; on the contrary, publicity has been courted with a frankness which speaks well for the constancy, the self-respect, and even enthusiasm of the converts.

In a critique which appeared in the columns of the Record it was stated that the converts from Rome to Protestantism greatly outnumbered my list. Now I have a brochure entitled, "Protestant Recruits," compiled by Montagu Russell Butler, Esq. The little work gives the names of 420 "Converts to Protestantism" from all parts of the habitable globe, but I beg leave to question whether one half of the number have really become Protestants.

Had I acted on the suggestions of some, and had given a list embracing all members of society, I should have had to publish a volume which for dimensions would have favourably compared with the "Post-Office Directory," a task from which, I think, I have wisely shrunk. My main object has been to issue a work which, according to the Christian Globe, "gives one a startling view of the rapid advancement which Roman Catholicism has made of late years in certain quarters;" and the Christian says, "A glance through its pages will astonish some people who doubt the increase of Popery in these days."

In justice to myself, I have to state that I had nothing to do with the early editions of "Rome's Recruits." Most of the inaccuracies, I find, have occurred in those editions, therefore I am not answerable for them. At the same time, I must say, in all fairness to the late editor of the Whitehall Review, that it was that gentleman's great desire to have the lists most scrupulously accurate.

I have been enabled to add many new names to this edition; have obtained dates of conversion, and have corrected a few orthographical errors.

Some who have taken a great interest in my work would have been glad to be able to ascertain from what denomination each convert has been recruited, and the individual cause of submitting to the Roman Church; but with regard to these matters, I can only add that the necessary information would be most difficult to procure.

In conclusion, it will be found by a cursory inspection of the lists, that there is hardly a single English noble family that has not given one or more of its members to the Roman Catholic Church, and the intercourse thus opened between the two formerly uncommunicating camps has resulted in a feeling of mutual good-will and friendliness which the greatest intellects and the largest hearts on each side cordially encourage.
